

Tracking hate incidents? Send them to us.

Every year, the OSCE Office for Democratic Institutions and Human Rights (ODIHR) includes civil society information as part of its hate crime data. These steps illustrate how we process these data, in co-operation with civil society.

For more information, visit www.hatecrime.osce.org

#1

Incident Details

Is there basic information about the incident?

Occurred in 2018
Date, time
Location
Source
Victim
Gender

Type of Crime

What was the type of crime committed?

Homicide
Physical violence
Theft or robbery
Threats
Arson
Vandalism
Damage to property

#2

Bias Indicators

What indicates that there was bias?

Victim's perception
Location or timing
Comments, gestures, symbols or graffiti
Racial, ethnic, religious differences
Organized hate group

#3

Bias Motivations

ODIHR reports according to the following bias motivations:

Racism & xenophobia
Anti-Semitism
Bias against:
Roma & Sinti
Muslims
Christians & other religions
LGBT people
Bias based on sex
People with disabilities

#4

Is this a hate crime?

Does the incident include a criminal act and a bias motivation?

Hate speech and discrimination fall outside the OSCE's definition of a hate crime.

#5

osce ODIHR
HATE CRIME REPORTING

Have incidents to report? Find out how at hatecrime.osce.org/civilsociety