

Information contained in this report was compiled as part of ODIHR's 2024 Hate Crime Report.
For more information, including on previous years' reporting, please visit: hatecrime.osce.org/sweden

For more information about ODIHR's Hate Crime Report, visit: hatecrime.osce.org/our-methodology

2024

Summary

Sweden regularly reports hate crime data to ODIHR. Hate crime reports are published every second year. Since 2016, the Government has implemented a national plan against racism, similar forms of hostility and hate crime. The plan takes an integrated approach and comprises strategies and measures to prevent and combat racism and hate crime through co-ordination and monitoring, education and research, and support for and co-operation with civil society.

Three different victimization surveys are conducted at one, two and three-year intervals in order to measure unreported hate crime.

Hate crime data collection in Sweden

Support for hate crime victims in Sweden

Hate crime capacity building in Sweden

Sweden's hate crime legislation

ODIHR's Key Observation

ODIHR recognizes Sweden's efforts to report hate crime information and statistics to ODIHR. However, based on the available information, it observes that Sweden has not reported data on hate crimes recorded by the judiciary to ODIHR. Otherwise, ODIHR observes that Sweden has met most of its OSCE commitments on hate crime.

Official Data

Sweden reports hate crime statistics every second year. The national hate crime data for 2024 were published in December 2025, after the launch of ODIHR’s 2024 Hate Crime Report. A total of 3,707 offences where hate was the underlying motive were recorded by police. This figure includes 768 offences that fall outside of the OSCE definition of hate crime, which are not presented here. The prosecution figures show the number of prosecuted hate crimes as of 31 May 2025, and relate to hate crimes reported in 2022.

Year	Hate crimes recorded by police	Prosecuted	Sentenced
2024	2,939	189	not available

Police data by bias motivation

The breakdown below presents records referring to bias motivations and may include offences that fall outside the OSCE hate crime definition. A number of offences involved more than one bias motivation.

1,694

Racist and xenophobic hate crime

This category includes the following: (1) afrophobic hate crimes; (2) anti-Roma hate crimes; (3) anti-Saami hate crimes; and (4) other racist and xenophobic hate crimes.

322

Anti-LGBTI hate crime

216

Anti-Muslim hate crime

175

Anti-Semitic hate crime

52

Other hate crime based on religion or belief

Offences under this category were not broken down by type of crime owing to the wide variety of anti-religious bias motives and types of crime.

36

Anti-Christian hate crime

Offences under the anti-Christian hate crime category were not broken down by type of crime owing to the low number of incidents reported and to protect the identity of those involved.

31

Anti-Roma hate crime

This category was reported on under the racist and xenophobic hate crime category. Anti-Roma hate crimes were not broken down into crime categories owing to the low number of incidents reported and to protect the identities of those involved.

Police data by type of crime

The breakdown below presents records referring to bias motivations and may include offences that fall outside the OSCE hate crime definition. A number of offences involved more than one bias motivation.

838

Harassment

This category also includes sexual harassment.

747

Other

This category includes the offences of defamation, violation of freedom and integrity, and crimes including robbery, theft, burglary, and arson, among other crimes. As such, this category includes offences that fall outside of the OSCE hate crime definition, but which could not be disaggregated.

345

Threats/ threatening behaviour

320

Damage to property

276

Physical assault

National Developments

In 2024, Sweden's Criminal Code was amended in chapter 16, section 8, which proscribes the offence of incitement against an ethnic group. When assessing whether the crime is serious, special consideration shall be given to whether the message had particularly threatening or offensive content and was disseminated to a large number of people in a manner that was likely to attract significant attention.

In 2024, the National Operations Department of the Swedish Police Authority developed a module on hate crimes within the "crimes against democracy" course for all community police officers. The focus is on the legal framework, as well as on hands-on practice like victim support, co-operation with civil society organizations, specialist groups for investigation, and what to remember when filing reports.

The Unit against Hate Crime and Violent Extremism (GDB) in Region South, together with the crime report centre 11414, conducted a project aimed at increasing hate crime reporting. The project included the launch of a continuous hate crime training for operators and investigation leaders, to ensure that hate crime reports are properly handled. The Unit was also involved in a project in the Syd Region, where hate crime statistics are shared with the municipality on the school environment and violent extremism. There are plans to hold training sessions for police officers in the municipality on the topics of hate crime, gaming, and violent extremism.

The Swedish Crime Victim Authority conducted an awareness-raising project targeting victims and potential victims of hate crimes, within which a brochure is being created on the subject. Among other things, the brochure will contain general information on hate crimes, victims' rights, how a police report is filed, and what compensation a victim may be entitled to.

In 2024, the Agency for Youth and Civil Society Affairs (MUCF) carried out efforts to increase awareness among decision-makers and officials regarding the vulnerability of young Roma to anti-Gypsyism. MUCF also published the report 'It must not exist – on the vulnerability of young LGBTQI people to honour-related violence and oppression and conversion attempts', as well as organized MUCF's regional network meeting titled "Counteracting Threats and Hate in a Regional Context". The content of the network meeting was based on the government's proposal to give municipalities and regions responsibility for preventing full- and part-time politicians from being exposed to ill health or accidents as a result of threats and violence.

The Swedish Agency for Support for Faith Communities has conducted research on faith communities' vulnerability to hate crimes. The research report will come out in 2025. Training sessions with faith communities and their municipality are planned.

At the beginning of 2024, the National Agency for Education (Skolverket) was tasked by the Government with researching experiences of - and efforts to address - anti-Semitism in schools in Sweden. During 2024, Skolverket included awareness of honour-related violence and oppression as a part of various initiatives to promote democracy and human rights. The Agency also assigned higher education institutions to implement training and teacher training against honour-related violence and oppression, and revised the guidance materials for schools on the topic.

Incidents reported by civil society

For 2024, ODIHR received reports of hate incidents in Sweden from the following civil society organizations:

- The Saami Council (Sámiráđđi)
- European Association of Jehovah's Witnesses

To learn more about these organizations, visit the Contributors page.

All incidents submitted by the above organizations have been analysed by ODIHR. Those that were broadly considered to be hate crimes within the OSCE definition (criminal offence committed with a bias motive) are listed in the tables below according to the bias motivation category. Some incidents involved multiple biases and may be listed in multiple categories.

ODIHR's insights

For 2024, ODIHR received reports of 12 incidents that took place in Sweden in the following bias motivation categories: anti-Christian, and racist and xenophobic.

ODIHR observes that almost all incidents reported were anti-Christian and mainly involved property attacks targeting Jehovah's Witnesses, including repeated vandalism and damage to Kingdom Halls and literature carts, as well as one attempted arson. ODIHR also noted an incident in which members of the Saami community were threatened following the killing of reindeer amid a dispute over land use.

It should be noted that ODIHR did not receive any reporting related to anti-Roma, anti-Semitic, anti-Muslim, other religion or belief, anti-LGBTI, gender-based or disability hate incidents in Sweden. This indicates potential gaps in the information reported here.

Please note that incidents reported here are based on voluntary civil society submissions and as such might not reflect the actual number of incidents or the most targeted communities in Sweden.

To address under-reporting, ODIHR encourages any civil society organizations or groups that monitor hate incidents in Sweden to report these to ODIHR at hatecrimereport@odihr.pl.

To export an Excel sheet with summaries of all incidents from Sweden click here and search by year and country.

View civil society incidents for Sweden, 2024